		When mutual agreement cannot be reached for the regional volleyball tournament and travel distance for any team is 150 miles or greater, then the regional tournament will be played on Saturday. A Friday regional tournament will be considered a reasonable option if travel distance is under 150 miles for all teams involved.
Rationale:		A Saturday regional volleyball tournament means students will miss less school time.
Pros:		Less missed school time for athletes. More spectators and parents can attend a regional or a weekend when long transportation is involved.
Cons:		Host school may not get the opportunity to play a Friday regional tournament. Possible shortage of officials.
